How will the scholarship of teaching and learning help my students

How will it address the needs of diverse learners?

What do we mean by active learning?

How do we promote student engagement?

What kinds of learning do we want to promote in our classes?

What is learning?

The "open discussion" sessions will focus on big questions related to aspects of the PCC, including planning.

will not fulfill its mission effectively if faculty do not participate in all

The PCC is a faculty and professional development resource. But it design more special workshops later in the fall and throughout the spring.

Using the辅导员 input from these sessions, we will then begin to will discuss ways the PCC will serve them specifically.

Council (PCC) will work closely with faculty in each college to help in the fall semester scheduled discussions. Members of the Faculty Renaissance Committee will offer sessions that faculty want and need. In addition to these sessions at the beginning of the semester, we will use these sessions so that the

the books of the Renaissance program, we have scheduled open discussion sessions in the development of PCC activities, if you will see in the schedule on because the Faculty Renaissance Center (PCC) is a new faculty
